

AWE FOULNESS NUCLEAR BLAST AND THERMAL SIMULATORS

BORGARTZ,B.

The Foulness Air Blast Simulator has undergone further development and calibration during a period of extensive test programs and the performances and limitations of the facility have been studied.

The requirement for an improved blast simulator at Foulness has also been established and initial concepts for a replacement LBTS are being considered.

This work concerned with the current and new facilities will be subject of the paper.